Urge Congress to Protect Tax Credits for Low-Income Working Families in Budget Talks

Congress has a lot of work to get done before the end of the year. Without strong voices pushing Congress to protect the Earned Income Tax Credit and the Child Tax Credit, these vital supports for low-income working families could disappear or be drastically cut for millions of struggling families. Scan this QR code to send an email to your members of Congress urging them to protect tax credits for working families TODAY (or go to results.org, click on Take Action). And join RESULTS volunteers across the country by calling your senators and representative at (202) 224-3121 on November 13 and say:

1. I am calling about tax credits for working families, specifically the Earned Income Tax Credit and Child Tax Credit.
2. People like firefighters, police officers and sheriffs, nurses, child care workers, and military personnel benefit from these credits — people who are working hard to support their families in tough economic times.
3. Parents who work full-time should be able to support their families and stay out of poverty. In 2010, the EITC and CTC lifted 9.2 million people out of poverty, more than half of them children.
4. Recent improvements to the EITC and CTC will expire at the end of this year.
5. I am very concerned that Congress will look to cut in the EITC and CTC as part of deficit reduction.
6. I urge you to make the expiring improvements to the EITC and CTC permanent and support a principle that specifically protects the EITC and CTC from cuts in any deficit reduction framework.
