Welcome!

Our Values & Resources

The logo for RESULTS, featuring the word "results" in white lowercase letters on a red speech bubble background.

At RESULTS we pledge to create space for all voices, including those of us who are currently experiencing poverty. We will address oppressive behavior in our interactions, families, communities, work, and world. Our strength is rooted in our diversity of experiences, not in our assumptions.

With unearned privilege comes the responsibility to act so the burden to educate and change doesn't fall solely on those experiencing oppression. When we miss the mark on our values, we will acknowledge our mistake, seek forgiveness, learn, and work together as a community to pursue equity.

Build the Buy-in Campaign

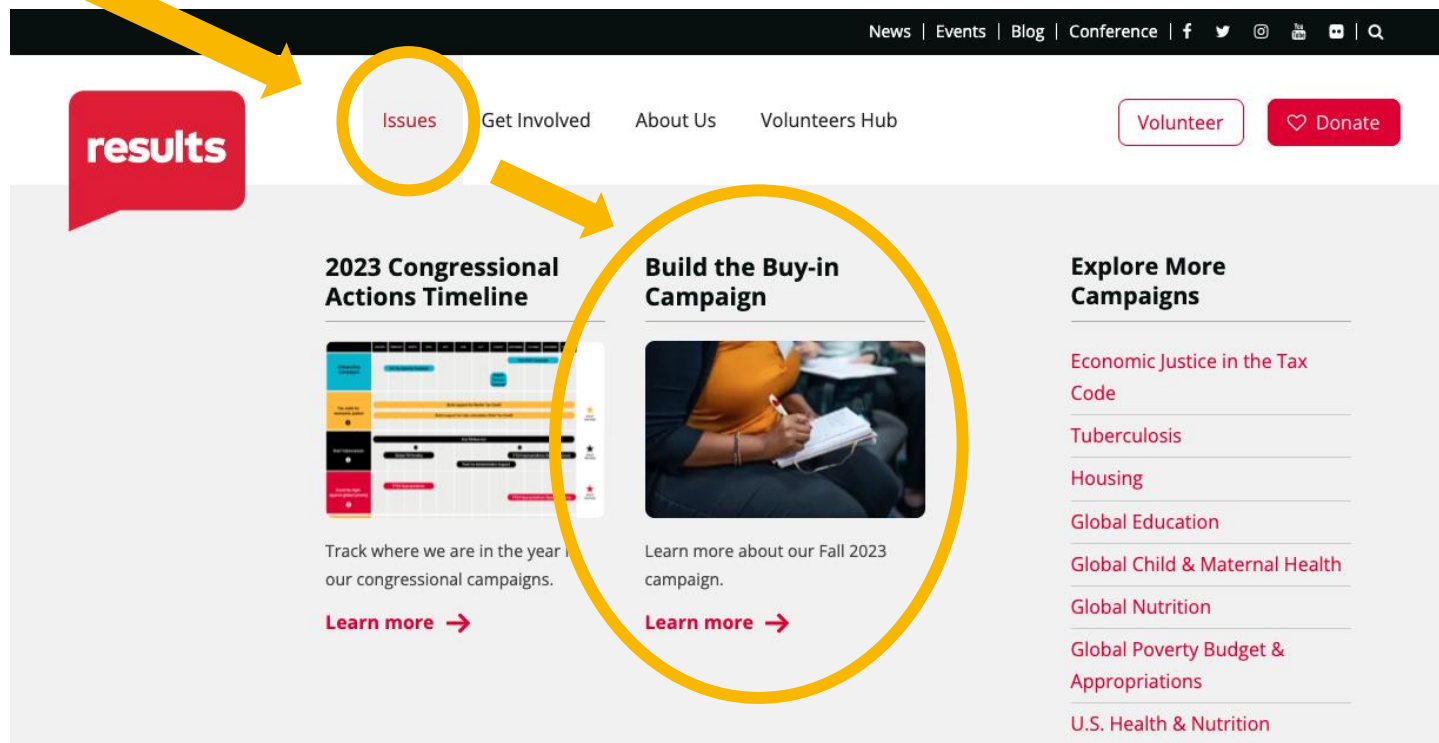

When Congress and communities buy in to the same goals, change happens.

When Congress hears about your priorities for ending poverty and why they matter, they start to “buy in” to the goals that create change. Now that you’ve Set the Agenda and grown relationships with your lawmakers and fellow advocates, it’s time to build that buy-in for Congress to follow-through. This fall 2023, we will publish media, meet strategically with members of Congress, and connect with each other to build bipartisan buy-in for action on tuberculosis (TB), global education, economic justice in the tax code, and equity and impact in global anti-poverty programs.

THE KANSAS CITY STAR.

ROOFS OVER HEADS

From toddlers playing with dollhouses to President Joe Biden delivering his State of the Union address, people agree that housing is important. Yet, in the U.S., the average one-bedroom apartment costs much more than someone working full time at the federal minimum wage makes. And as rent prices increase, many Americans face the prospect of eviction.

As a high school junior, I'm worried about many things: the SAT, college essays and prom. However, these are things I'm lucky to worry about because the roof over my head is secure. There are thousands of Americans, many my age, without such luck. They must deal with the housing crisis much before they can find a prom dress.

Congress can fix this. Millions of low-income renters could afford better, stable homes with federal rental assistance. But because of inadequate funding, only 1 in 4 of those eligible can receive this help. By making large corporations and the wealthy pay their share of taxes, rental assistance could be expanded to all who are eligible, virtually ending homelessness.

Every junior should get to focus on being 16, not impending homelessness. I urge Sens. Roy Blunt and Josh Hawley and Rep. Emanuel Cleaver to prioritize funding for rental assistance in legislation this year.

- Stella Linn, Kansas City

Your view: Prioritize federal funding for rental assistance

From toddlers getting Barbie Dreamhouses for their birthdays to President Joe Biden in his State of the Union address, most people can agree that housing is incredibly important.

Yet, in the U.S. it takes three times the current minimum wage for a worker to afford a one-bedroom apartment, and as rent prices continue to increase rapidly, many Americans are facing the prospect of eviction.

As a second semester junior in high school, right now I'm worried about many things, from my SAT score to college essays to prom. However, these are things I'm lucky to be worried about because I know the roof over my head will be there. There are thousands of Americans, some of them my age, without such luck. They must deal with the current and ongoing housing crisis much before they can find a prom dress.

However, Congress can do something about this. Millions of low-income renters could afford better, stable places to live with federal rental assistance, but because of inadequate funding, only one in four of those eligible can receive this assistance. By making large corporations and the wealthy pay their fair share of taxes, rental assistance could be expanded to all who are eligible, virtually ending homelessness, reducing racial inequality and saving lives.

Every junior should be able to focus on the stress of being 16 years old, not the stress of impending homelessness. I urge U.S. Sens. Roy Blunt and Josh Hawley to prioritize funding for rental assistance in upcoming legislation.

Friends and Family Fundraising

RESULTS volunteers and supporters around the country play a critical role in ensuring the organization has the resources needed to end poverty through peer-to-peer fundraising – including in-person events in your community and online fundraising. Fundraising is a great way to raise money, strengthen your group, and spread the word about your important work to end poverty.

Online fundraisers are easy to create. Your page is customizable and makes it easy for your friends and family to make a tax-deductible donation. Read instructions on how to set one up and get tips for having a successful fundraiser from our Friends and Family Fundraiser Guide. Thank you for supporting RESULTS!

This fall, step out to support RESULTS

"I share my story because fundraising for RESULTS both brings in critical financial support and can be a great way to introduce people to our mission to end poverty. By showing up, telling our stories, and inviting friends, colleagues, and family to give, we are offering them the opportunity to join us in making a real impact in the world."

Dear friends,

I grew up in Zimbabwe, a country still struggling with high rates of HIV. This is why I became an advocate with RESULTS six years ago, an organization dedicated to making a difference in the lives of those affected by HIV/AIDS.

HIV/AIDS has had a lasting impact on my family. Seven of my aunts and uncles contracted the virus, and sadly, two of them lost their lives. Witnessing their pain made me realize that I had to take action for my family and others facing similar challenges.

Thanks to RESULTS and its partners like the Global Fund and PEPFAR, Zimbabwe has seen a 30% increase in people receiving antiretroviral therapy. This means that 1.1 million individuals are now receiving treatment. That means an HIV diagnosis is no longer a death sentence in Zimbabwe. It is humbling and motivating to know that my work as a grassroots advocate and donor with RESULTS is helping to keep my family members and countless others alive.

DONATE

Now, I am reaching out to you with a humble request. Please join me in supporting RESULTS and its mission to fight HIV/AIDS. Your donation, big or small, can provide free treatment to those in need, ensure access to vital medications, and support research and prevention efforts. It will also help me meet my fundraising goal :) Together, we can change lives and create a future where HIV/AIDS is no longer a crisis. Please consider donating to RESULTS today.

Thank you from the bottom of my heart for your generosity, empathy, and support.
