9:00 am – 12:00 pm	Leadership Ken Patterson , Director of Global Grassroots Advocacy Jos Linn , Grassroots Manager, U.S. Poverty Campaigns Ending poverty and giving everyone the opportunity to realize their potential will require leadership — not just from those in appointed or paid positions, but from all of us. But what kind of leadership is required of us? In the 20th anniversary edition of the book, Reclaiming Our Democracy, RESULTS founder Sam Daley-Harris outlines commitments needed by any organization wishing to successfully empower and transform average people into leaders and champions. The Leadership Intensive will draw on these commitments to strengthen the leadership of anyone ready for the challenges of creating breakthroughs toward ending and realizing our own political power, inspiring others to action, honing our ability to speak powerfully and coach others, building deep relationships, and engaging others in our work.
9:00 am – 12:00 pm	Media Colin Smith , Deputy Director of Communications Perhaps you know how to write a great letter to the editor, but wonder what's next? The Media Skills Intensive will take the long view on our work with the media, exploring how to "think like a journalist," build strong media relationships, make national and global issues relevant to our local communities, and maximize the impact of our media successes. Participants will get hands-on practice, hear straight from journalists, and leave with resources to support them in their future media successes.
