In June 2012, the Governments of Ethiopia, India and the United States, together with UNICEF, convened the "Committing to Child Survival: A Call to Action" summit, to mobilize the world to achieve an ambitious, yet achievable goal – to end preventable child deaths in a generation. Governments and partners are uniting under the banner of "A Promise Renewed" to achieve that goal. On September 13, 2013, UNICEF will release its second annual "A Promise Renewed" report on global child survival.

Please join us for a preview briefing of the report, which includes the latest global, regional, and country-level statistics on child mortality, and a detailed analysis of both progress and challenges in reaching the goal of ending preventable child deaths.
